

Join our team – Project Surveyors & Project Managers

HMK is seeking to appoint full time, permanent project surveyors and project managers to join our fast-growing company and to become part of a team who are best in their field. We have opportunities for both project surveyors and project managers at graduate, intermediate and senior levels.

HMK is a well-established QS practice in Northern Ireland and has recently expanded to the Republic of Ireland with an office in central Dublin. Over the last decade, HMK has developed a very strong focus on project management and offers a combined PM / QS service on most of our major projects. Successful candidates will bring to bear their exceptional capabilities on an array of interesting projects including flagship hospitality schemes, class-leading education projects, and city centre residential and leisure projects, and will have an interest in developing their quantity surveying / project management skills simultaneously.

Successful candidates will be immediately comfortable in settling into an existing, cohesive team and fulfilling a role that will primarily involve supporting or leading the well-established quantity surveying and project management teams on both pre and post contract duties. HMK operates a hybrid working arrangement.

Successful candidates will benefit from a highly competitive remuneration package which includes Private Medical and an Employee Cash Plan to support work/life balance. They will also benefit from the strong continuous professional development approach at HMK; underpinned by a bespoke professional development plan and, where relevant, an RICS APC training programme, and with both capital and senior resource made available as required to support development needs.

The role offers an opportunity to learn and develop with the business as it continues to expand, with projects across all sectors and serviced from both our Belfast and Dublin offices. If you are interested in furthering your career within a supportive and driven team, please forward your CV to rachael.mcdonagh@hmkni.com.
